MARSEILLE PROVENCE, MAJOR CITY IN THE SOUTH OF FRANCE

100% ATTRACTIVE

With its outstanding geographical location and thriving economy, tourism and culture, France's second largest city, Marseille, has been keeping pace with rapid Mediterranean and international growth for over 10 years.

©Architects: Rudi Ricciotti & Roland Carta

As the capital of Provence, Marseille's ambition is founded on its remarkable potential and key assets.

> France's largest university and the second scientific research centre. This rich growth sector has made Marseille a major research hub in Europe thanks to key expertise in fields such as immunology, oncology, clinical trials, microbiology, neuroscience and ICT.

> 10 centres of economic excellence

Marseille and its surrounding region have recognised expertise in the most innovative sectors, including aviation, microelectronics, secure communication solutions, chemistry / petrochemistry and logistics.

> A city of tourism and culture

Over the past few years, tourism has been established as one of the major pillars of economic development in Marseille. The city's exceptional natural beauty has been home to numerous cultural initiatives, including European Capital of Culture in 2013, European Capital of Sport in 2017 and the 2018 Love Capital. 2019 will be the year of gastronomy in Provence and Marseille will be also a host city during the 2024 Olympic games.

EVENTS HOSTED AT MARSEILLE CHANOT

“ In March 2017, Marseille and the Parc Chanot hosted the 43rd Annual Meeting of the European Society for Blood and Bone Marrow Transplantation (EBMT). The event was a huge success and, for the first time in EBMT’s history, more than 5,000 participants attended. This result is even more impressive because some of our more recent meetings were held in major European cities such as London, Milan or Istanbul, with a much larger population and greater tourism appeal than are traditionally associated with Marseille. Beyond the figures, the event was also a scientific success, attracting participants from around the globe. Feedback during and after the event, particularly on social media, referred to the professional but warm and friendly atmosphere. Many participants praised Parc Chanot’s welcome and appreciated the extraordinary Marseille site and the quality of life along the Mediterranean Coast. ”

Pr CHABANNON,

Organiser of the 2017 International EBMT Meeting (5,000 people)

“ We chose to organise our event at Marseille Chanot because of its accessibility and capacity that met our needs. The venue is bright and sunny, which also played an important part in our choice. In the end, we were won over by exchanges with the professionals at Marseille Chanot, and their flexibility. ”

Amélie FUNES,

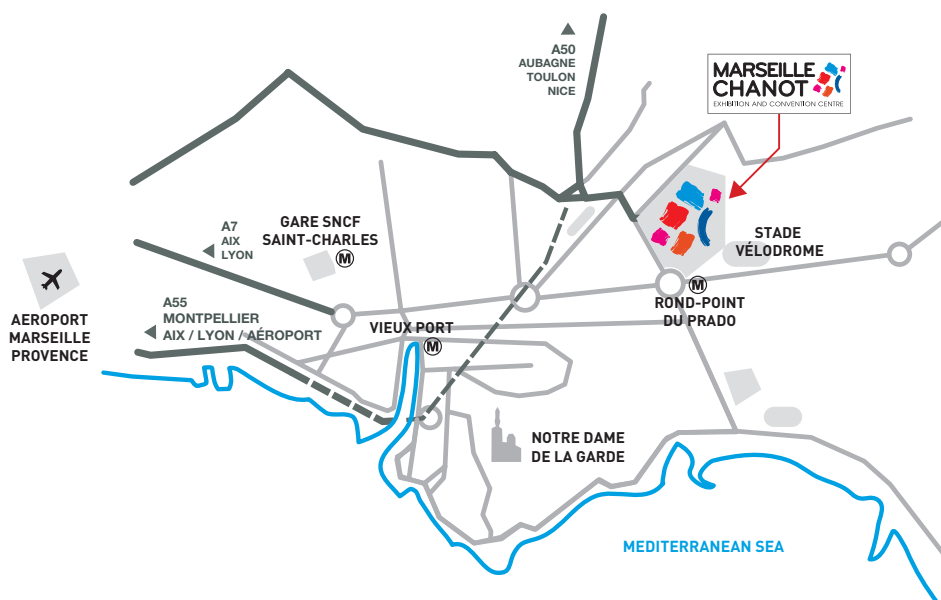

Research Manager, CREA PACA and Corsica (SESSAD CREA Convention - 800 people)
